

Drew into existence in 1986.

Joined Boy Scout Troop 117 to go camping. Camped from New Mexico to the Florida Keys.

Organized a service project: designed and built benches for the Faith Mission in Columbus, Ohio

And eleven days before his eighteenth birthday became an Eagle Scout (2004).

Flipped burgers at Wendy's.

Learned the lovely language of Spanglish, a beautiful blend of Spanish and English.

Continued studying language and culture with Japanese at Dublin Scioto High School (2005).

Spent summer of 2007 at America's Roller Coast, Cedar Point.

Discovered the fine art of retail caricatures and wood signs.

Passed on the military.

Signed up for four years of boot camp at the Columbus College of Art and Design anyway.

Awarded President's Scholarship.

Marched on the President's List for 7 semesters with a 3.535 GPA.

Finished the shake down battered, in a jog, with a smirk asked, "Can we go again?"

Receiving a fresh BFA in Illustration (2009): merging graphic design and fine Arts.

Continued scouting as an assistant scout master.

Third employee of a production company: Instant Imprints of Hilliard.

Was forced to stretch into two: a designer and a screen printer, as the latter up and quit.

Rebranded Instant Imprints to Hilliard Imprints.

Mended broken bikes as a volunteer at the Third Hand Bicycle Co-op (2009).

And was promoted from volunteer to Key Holder.

To be continued...